POLICE SAY THEY KNOW OWNER OF MURDER SUIT CASE

DIVER AT WORK AT WINTHROP SEEKING MISSING PARTS OF BODY.

CONVICT IS TRAILED BY BIG HOUNDS

BRIDGEWATER, Sept. 26.—With bloodhounds on his track and more than 800 men guarding the woods he has taken flight to, Missot Mt. Clair Franks, the same negro who escaped from the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, has poor chances of evading capture to-day.

Samuel Perry, a teamster, while driving along the road to Raynham, saw the negro at the edge of the woods. Perry got quite near him before the man knew he was being watched, but the moment he saw Perry he dashed into the woods, going in the direction of Raynham. Perry says the man was a mulatto and resembled greatly the escaped convict.

THE NEW AMERICAN
HUNTINGTON AVENUE GROUND,
Boston, Sept. 28.—With the weather of the day, the crowd at the opening of the new American Hunting Ground was not so large as it might have been. The wind blowing hard a gale across the diamond, rolling clouds of dust every time a ball was pitched, and the fact that the Champe and White Sox lined up for their second head-to-head battle of the season, were all factors in the small attendance.

Although it was another bargain day, the fall fair cannot be expected to buy the crowd. The weather was not so good as what they were practically asked to do in the casual line of the game. The crowd was much larger than could have been drawn under similar weather conditions.

Yesterday morning Fleder Jones, manager of the White Sox, said that he expected to see a crowd of 10,000 at the game. This morning he is still more conservative.

Fleder Jones believes that the American League will win the pennant. He thinks the probable winners of the National League are the Cincinnati Reds.

He figures that the Giants have been having the best of the season, but that they are unable to put on a hard battle when pushed. He thinks that the Yankees and the Sox have had to fight for every game and that they will win the pennant.

"It's hard for a team to play at the top of the season," he says, "and the Sox and still win." He says that the Yankees are the only team that can win the pennant.

He is likely to count most in the post-season.

Fleder Jones called for a fight to give the Sox a chance to win the pennant. He says the game, while Cy Young was slated for the game, was a good one.

Fleder Jones believed that the Sox were the best team in the league.

SPEAKER NIXON BETTER.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Representative Nixon, of New York, in his morning session at Eastford, the headquarters of the New York State Assembly, indicated that the speaker of the assembly was a perfect example.

It is believed that the speaker of the assembly is a perfect example of the speaker of the assembly.

Progress Made in Probing the Winthrop Suit Case Mystery

Bloodstained clothing of the young woman and surgeons' gowns which had been used in cleaning a wound found floating in the water off Cottage Park, about a mile from the Winthrop Yacht Club.

Dress suit case, in which the body was found, taken to Winthrop.

Police officers saw the case and told the man who carried it.

Address on the paper in which the clothing was found shows that the paper at least came originally from the store of Mrs. R. O. Burnham, 20 Dalton street, Back Bay.

Police officers know where the head, arms and legs of the woman in the mystery were deposited, and today a drive will hunt for them at Winthrop.

Police satisfied that these were taken to Winthrop in a second dress suit case and thrown into the water, probably near where the clothing was found.

A young man, who was held yesterday on suspicion of being a principal in the Winthrop mystery under arrest on a charge of having been responsible for an illegal operation on a young Marjorie's neck, is Exhaustive Effort Being Made To-day to Find Missing Members of Victim of Winthrop Tragedy—Blood-Stained Clothing Is Important Clue.

Divers are to-day searching the bottom of Winthrop Cove for the head, arms and legs of the girl whose dismembered body was found in a suit case floating off the Winthrop Yacht Club house. The police are positive now that they know the man who last owned the fatal suit case. In the finding of a bundle of woman's clothing, bloodstained, they believe they have still another clue of great value.

One man is now being sought as the slayer by reason of the suit case identification. This may be stated on the authority of one of the highest police officials. This man is prominently connected; he may be either a doctor or a high medical student. It is believed he knows of the throwing of the headless torso into the water, and also of the bundle of blood-stained clothing.

But the finding of the head and limbs of the young woman will, the police believe, do more to clear up the mystery of death than anything thus far accomplished. Identification would probably result within a few hours if the head were found. Captain Alfred M. Sorenson, wreck master, is directing the diver's work.

An exhaustive search of the waters of the cove will be made, under direction of the police. The investigators are now positive that

GLIMPSE OF OLD NIPPON IN JAPANESE TEA GARDEN

JAPANESE TEA GARDEN IN R. H. WHITE'S CO.'S STORE.

R. H. White Company's Novel
Feature Is a Delight to Third Shoppers.

In a real Japanese tea garden where faintly gay makisaki sit nobly on a stand, their picturesque kimonos and the latest attire of the garden, one may purchase a "Kamata" makisaki. It is the latest dainty prepared for the afternoon shopping. Inquiries for the recipe are sent with the most non-committal Japanese chef, and he is too busy to write out the formula for the housewife.

There is fish in the Komata sandwich. What kind of fish? The chef knows of one that does it. It is prepared in one of the ways of the Japanese. It is a Japanese in the kitchen, and the large dining room on the second floor, have portions of the Komata sandwich.

with their tea and have waxed enthusiastically in its praise.

Just Like Old Nippon.

Those who have visited the arrangements of the garden, which has been found in all parts of the Mikado's empire. Natural bamboo work has been used. The roofing of the garden work from which hang hundreds of clusters of purple, white and blue flowers, the most delicate of the Japanese. The garden is a masterpiece of the Japanese. The garden is a masterpiece of the Japanese. The garden is a masterpiece of the Japanese.
